

The Dragon Quest by Kyden Thompson.

"Hey, Phoenix what is that moving by the trees?" I ask my sidekick Phoenix, Phoenix, who is brave, tall and fierce, is my best friend, he is as cool as a cucumber. I am Xavier my friends say I am brave, fierce and cool but I do not feel any of that right now especially after my parents died, a human boy alone in a dragon world. I would not have been able to survive without Phoenix. "Let's go take a look." I say more confident than I feel.

wish! I jump on to Phoenix's back as we swiftly glide through the trees till we see dragon slayers. "We will be rich soon once we sell all this dragon skin armour for the war!" Says the leader. I am shaking like a leaf. Whoosh! A sky harpoon is tailgating us and it is very sharp.

"Phew, the sky harpoon did not hit us." I say to phoenix.

"We have to go to phyrria the capital city of the dragon world to warn the dragon leaders," Whispers Phoenix. Fear is riding on my shoulder. "I don't think we are brave enough." I say to Phoenix.

"Take a scale from my neck." Says Phoenix. I do as he said and put it over my heart and I feel stronger.

The battle raged on and the beautiful clouds turned grey and black. I clung to Phoenix's back as he fires fire that is as hot as lava at the Dragon Slayers on the ground.

After Phoenix shot the last Dragon Slayer we had triumphed we had saved Phyrria.

The Dragon Quest by Kyden Thompson.

I am cocooned in blankets watching tv me and the friendly dragons had saved the dragon nation and saved the dragons from the dastardly Dragon Slayers, and know one even knows.

I feel stronger, I can feel I am able to be the Dragon keeper.
