

The Quest

Miguel
Year 5

The cold wind pushes upon Sebastian and James while they they search for the castle in the eerie and dark forrest. "Where are we?" Sebastian whispers with fear.

"I don't know," James whispers back. The bright shining moon was a ghostly galleon tossed upon cloudy seas. The trees were looming over them, they are majestic giants. As they search for what feels like an eternity they come across this enormous Cyclopes sleeping in the dark frightening forrest. "What are we going to do?" James whispers.

"We have to go around it" Sebastian whispers. They try to go around it but step on a branch and it makes a long loud sound. They sprint as fast as lightning to a tree to hide behind. The Cyclopes begins to look around breaking everything in its path, the Cyclopes is coming to the tree they are hiding behind. As he starts to break the tree Sebastian and James draw their swords. They come out around the tree and start to fight the Cyclopes. They have a fierce and intense fight until the Cyclopes falls down and is pouring with blood all around its body. Sebastian and James are very bloody and wounded from the fierce fight. Luckily they came prepared with loads of bandages and water, they bandaged themselves up and started searching for the big castle again.

Some time later...

They had found the castle covered in green moss and very ancient, they try to head inside but there are guards all around the front. "How are we going to get inside?" says Sebastian softly.

"I do not know there is so many guards," says James, "should we go around to the side?"

"Yes." They start heading to the side they see a wall with a little hole. James grabs his hammer and swings and makes the hole they can crawl through. They sneak to the back and find an open door, then once inside theres massive door with a tiny keyhole. They start looking for a tiny key in this massive room James saw a glance of a gold shimmer he walks over, and it is a tiny key he walks over to the massive door, and it opens creak!!!! They hear as the massive door opens as they walk into the next room. There's a lever, they pull, it but the normal sized door doesn't open. They think they have to look for more levers so they start searching for more levers to pull. They pull four more and the door opens. In the next room there is three Buttons...one blue, another green, and the last one red. They have a hard, long think. They decide there going to press the green one. When they press it, the door opens and there stands a dark sorcerer, "You did it," he says in surprise. They all draw their swords and have a fierce blood-filled fight until the dark sorcerer falls, they taste victory. Afterwards they both work at a cancer help centre.
