Learning MATHS in class

In maths, class I walked in feeling excited because I love learning new things. The teacher wrote numbers and questions on the board. The classroom was bright and full of energy. I sat down and got ready to listen carefully. I wanted to do well but I also felt a unsure because the topic was new and looked difficult.

At the beinning, I found the math work very hard. I did not understand the steps and made a few mistake.

I felt a bit frustrated and thought I might not be able to do it. But I did not give up. I raised my hand and asked my teacher for help. She explained slowly and showed examples.

I watched carefully and tried again step by step. My friends also helped me practise.

After more practice, I started to understand the work better.

I felt very happy when I got some answers correct on my own. My confidence grew and I felt proud of my effort. By the end of the lesson, I realised that learning takes time and mistake help me improve. I now feel more confident in math and wants to keep trying my best every day.
